

Wyatt's Pat Mulloy Elected Chairman of Argentum Board of Directors

May 21 Wyatt, Tarrant & Combs is pleased to announce that Pat Mulloy, a member of the Firm's Corporate & Securities Team, has been elected Chairman of the Argentum Board of Directors. Mr. Mulloy previously served as Argentum's Vice Chairman. Argentum is the leading national association that is exclusively dedicated to supporting companies operating professionally managed, resident-centered senior living communities and the older adults and families they serve. Argentum has been advocating for choice, independence, dignity and quality of life for all older adults since 1990.

Pat Mulloy is a member of the Firm's Corporate & Securities Team. He has been "passionately committed to this industry," having built and led three senior housing companies over the past 24 years. He founded and served as President and CEO of Atria Senior Living from 1996-2000. From 2001-2004, he was CEO of LifeTrust America, and CEO of Elmcroft Senior Living from 2006-2018. He is recognized as a foundational architect of the business model and mission of today's senior living facilities. In his law practice, he concentrates in various areas of business law, including securities, corporate finance, mergers and acquisitions as well as venture capital/private equity investments. In addition to his law practice, Mr. Mulloy is an executive in residence with Chrysalis Ventures, a private equity firm, serves on the board of directors for Republic Bank & Trust Company, the Board of Trustees for Bellarmine University, and Vanderbilt Law School's Board of Advisors.
